SIU to Meet Concordia at 9 Tonight

SIU will face Concordia College at 9 tonight in the SIU Arena in the second game of the opening round of the NCAA College Division Great Lakes regional basketball tournament. In the evening's first game at 7, Central Michigan will tangle with Jackson State in the other top bracket.

The winners of tonight's competition will meet Saturday evening at 9 to decide who will continue into the NCAA finals in Evansville.

This evening's losers will vie for third place at 7 p.m. Saturday.

Tickets for the games may be purchased any time today, or they may be picked up at the door at either of the games. Tickets for one evening only and books, good for both nights, may be purchased. The two books will remain on sale through tonight's game.

Students will pay $1.50 per ticket or $2.25 for the book.

These tickets will be good for both chair and bleacher seats.

Non-student tickets will cost $2.50 each or $3.75 per book for chair seats. Bleacher tickets will be on sale to non-students for $2 each or $3 per book.

Plenty of tickets are left for both nights' competition.

Pictures of the teams and background material appears on pages 9, 10 and 11 of this issue of the Egyptian.

Theta Xi Stage Show Starts Tonight

SIU to Train Peace Corps Unit for Nepal

Trainees for Peace Corps work in the mountain kingdom of Nepal will report to SIU March 23 for eight weeks of training and instruction.

The 45 college graduates from institutions throughout the United States will be housed at Camp 2 of Little Grassy.

After the training at Southern, the volunteers will go to the East-West Center at the University of Hawaii for a final three weeks before starting two years of duty in Nepal.

Announcement of the program, Southern's first of 1965, was made by Robert Jacobs, dean of international services. One hundred sixty volunteers were trained for work in Niger, Senegal, Tunisia and Honduras on the SIU campus last year.

The Nepal program will be managed jointly by Gary Robinson and Dennis Grubbs under the general supervision of George Criminger, acting director of the Peace Corps program at SIU. Mike Lanagan will be camp director.

Grubbs said 40 of those coming to SIU will be trained to teach English as a foreign language and five graduates in civil engineering will be rural construction specialists who will supervise bridge building by natives in a program to develop farm-to-market roads.

English Language Services, Inc., which has a center on the SIU campus, will assist in the program by bringing in six Nepalese instructors to teach the language to the students.

Gus Bode

Gus says the new pool halls are a real good thing because they give the students a place to study their geometry lessons.

WINTER WONDERLAND - Photographer Hal Stoelzle braved the cold night air and heavy snows to take this picture of the snow covered campus. The SIU Climatology Laboratory reported that between 4 p.m. Wednesday and 4 p.m. Thursday 4.2 inches of snow had covered the campus. It was the most for that date since 1960.

New Electronic Whiz

Want to Pass Final Exams?

A 'PockeTutor' Is the Answer

"PockeTutor," its inventor avers, is not designed for cheating by college students. Which is like saying an automobile is designed for transportation, period.

In any event, the device is stirring interest in wide areas of the nation, as terms come to a close throughout the parts of the land that are on the quarter system.

Even The National Observer has taken note, in a Page One story.

"PockeTutor" is a sort of miniaturized pony, an electronic device on which pertinent information can be stored. The inventor concedes that some enterprising, but less than ethical types, might indeed use this for cheating on examinations.

One model fits into a shirt pocket. "My," the instructor notes, "where did you girls get all those shirts?"

This device sells for $19.95. For another $9.95, the control mechanism becomes part of the package. This is in the form of a wrist watch; a flick of the wrist, and the roll of paper (with all the dope) winds past a transparent window on the top of the pocket device.

Let the buyer beware, if the instructor asks for the time. The answers, depending on the nature of the examination, might run like these:

Chemistry: "It's H2SO4, prof."

History: "It's about July 4, 1776."

Art Appreciation: "Whistler's Mother."

Mathematics: "Pi R squared."

American Literature: "The Pit and the Pendulum." German: "Gut, besser, am bestam."

All this could be bad enough, but suppose the roll of paper broke and the machine kept running.

It would be worse than a burglar alarm.

The inventor, Darrell N. Markey, 27, of Seattle, says this isn't the purpose, at all. He told the Daily Northwestern, "We certainly don't want to advocate cheating. We didn't have that in mind at all."

"I got the idea about a year ago that it would be handy to have such a thing, for instance, to study during coffee breaks at work if you're a student and work part-time."

'Circus on Parade,' Singers, Skit Among 14 Acts Slated

At 7:30 p.m. today and Saturday, the lights in Shryock Auditorium will dim and the stage curtains will be opened to the sights and sounds of the 18th annual Theta Xi Variety Show.

Bob Holt, announcer and special effects creator for radio station KMOX in St. Louis, will be master of ceremonies.

The all-student show, which is under the cochairmanship of Robert T. Drinan and William C. Gard, will feature 14 acts, by three groups, six individuals and four performances in an intermediate category.

The acts and performers in the sequence in which they will appear are as follows:

A singing group, the Slanted One Plus Two.

Library to Expand Newspaper Files

The Morris Library ad hoc committee on newspaper microfilm has decided to expand the library's holdings with the purchase of back files of the following papers:

The Washington Post, New York Herald-Tribune, New York Journal-American, The Christian Science Monitor, Louisville Courier Journal, Memphis Commercial Appeal and the New Orleans Times Picayune.

Ralph E. McCoy, director of libraries, and Ferris S. Randall, acting librarian of Morris Library, joined the regular committee in consideration of the expansion. Members of the ad hoc committee are William A. Pitkin, associate professor of history, Bryce W. Rucker, associate professor of journalism and John Clifford, social studies librarian.

Not Even a Skinned Knee

SIU, City Dig Out of Snow No Accidents Are Reported

The SIU campus and Carbondale had an easy time of it Thursday despite the snow. No accidents of consequence were reported.

The Health Service had not treated even a skinned knee, and the Carbondale police said all was quiet in the city.

Joe Widdows, supervisor of buildings and grounds, said there were about 18 men working to clear the snow at 6 a.m. Thursday. Four were assigned to road patrol, spreading cinders and plowing snow off the campus drives.

An individual vocalist, Marilyn R. Mertz.

A barber shop quartet, the Pointers from Thompson Point.

The Southern Players will be next with a short play.

Following the skit will be Charles D. Trentham, who sings and plays a 12-string guitar.

The first group act of the evening, "Circus On Parade," will be presented by the Phi Kappa Tau social fraternity and the Alpha Gamma Delta social sorority. This combination has won the group act for the last two years, and if they win this year, they will be awarded permanent ownership of the traveling trophy.

After a brief intermission, the second group act of the evening will parade on stage. The Sigma Phi social fraternity and Sigma Sigma Sigma social sorority will present "Wonderful World of College."

A singing banjo player, Thomas C. Ohler, will follow the group act.

The Justin Singers, well-known campus folk singing group, will capture the spotlight next.

Jamaican music sung by Lancelott E. Lumsden, will follow the music.

The Dusty Road Boys are scheduled next, and they will switch the mood from Jamaica to blue grass country singing.

The final group act of the evening, "All American," by the Delta Chi social fraternity and the Delta Zeta social sorority will end the competitive performances.

The Theta Xi pledges will present their annual pledge act, but it will not be for an award.

The Word, Southern Style

by D.O. Volente
Book VIII

And a mighty king rose up in the land, and such as he was, he was called King Solemn. His fame and wisdom spread throughout the world, such as it was. And the great king was rich in coal for he had many mines; he was rich in soybeans for he had many fields; and he was just plain rich, for he had many liquid assets, which is to say, a large budget from the rulers of the North, and fines from overdue scrolls and unauthorized chariots.

And it came to pass that one day two feuding women came before the Great One—one was Cynthia Shylock (the merchant of Seadale), and the other was called Alicia Avarice (landlady). And the Great One asked them what it was that troubled them. And they replied unto him, saying, "This woman says the infant Seadale is hers. But you and I know that it is mine." And the king said, "Bring me my writ of Eminent Domain, for I shall sever infant Seadale with an abomination called the IC." And both women cried unto him, saying that business would be ruined. (Note: This conflicts with earlier versions of this document. The interpretation presented above seems the most plausible.)

And Solemn said, "For your duplicity and your greed, the IC shall be ever a wall between you. And you shall be cursed with the raucous clanging of bells, and the blowing of horns and whistles, not to mention lousy service." And both women went their separate ways.

Book IX

Now Sheba Bird heard of the fame of Solemn, and she came to Seadale via Omar Airlines from the East. She came with a great retinue, with authorized cars bearing stickers, with very much gold and precious stones (which were placed around the campus), and with federal grants. And when Sheba Bird had seen all the wisdom of Solemn, his town, his dwelling, the food of his table, his Vice Presidents (her father had only one), his servants, and his cup-bearers, his burnt offerings, and the Saluki Patrol...

She marveled. And she said to the King, "The report was true which I heard in my own land of your affairs, but I did not believe the reports until I came, and my own eyes had seen it."

And the King replied, "Shucks".

And she especially admired a radio program which was broadcast in the land of Solemn, and it was called Conegrad and was heard on WINI (1420) on Sabbaths at 4:30 p.m.

And she wondered at the fact that Conegrad could get so many free plugs in Ka. What gifts will Sheba Bird bear? Will Conegrad get more plugs? Join us next week.

Final Exam Survey

The new, experimental, policy towards the final week of school has become the most recent source of student complaints. Since its institution last fall quarter, students and faculty alike have reacted as if this policy was the most serious threat to health, welfare and fertility since the University Center. Accordingly, the Ad Hoc Committee to Evaluate Final Examination Procedures was set up, intending to make recommendations based on student and faculty opinion.

As a student representative to this committee, it has been extremely disheartening to me to see such a poor student response to the questionnaire we distributed. Over 2,200 of these questionnaires were mailed to a random sampling of students, and several hundred more were left at the University Center Information Desk for any student to pick up and fill out. Of all these, only about 400 have been returned in the last three weeks.

I feel compelled to point out that criticism implies responsibility. And this responsibility is not met by saying: "I don't have the time," "I don't remember what tests I had last quarter," or "It won't do any good anyway." Unless response improves, the student body will have forfeited any rights to influence the new policy toward exams.

Please complete the questionnaire, if you have not already done so, and return it to the University Center Information desk or send it to the Student Government Office through campus mail. Any information you are not sure of or don't recall, leave blank, but turn in the form anyway, answering as many questions as you can.

John Huck

Ed. Note: Given the undemocratic and authoritarian method used by the Administration in this matter, of first imposing a final exam policy and then asking everybody "How does it feel?", obviously the best course is for as many students as are able, to say just what their opinion of this "experiment" is. As little as the concession to our opinion is, we ought nonetheless to grab it eagerly, since it's apparently as close to democracy as we're going to get for the present.

WCZ

In Defence of Apathy

by David Omar Born

The other day, whilst stimulating my intersystemal corrosion with some of the University Center's coffee, I overheard several students engaged in a philosophical inquiry into the "way things are."

These were no ordinary students; their social consciousness was indeed pleasing to the ear. "Did you read Ka last week?" asked a fair-haired youth with saddle shoes.

"Is it anything like Candy?" commented one of his fellows, lighting up a Tiparillo.

"No it's that satirical page of student opinion that comes out on Friday."

"Oh, yeah. I know what you mean. That page where the writers are always trying to stir up trouble and where they make fun of the Administration's mistakes," said Tiparillo, profoundly.

Mustering his powerful soprano voice, a freshman burst forth with: "Well, isn't there a need for political and social criticism? Doesn't SIU need a gadfly?" This delirious lad was obviously a product of CSC 102.

"Don't be a silly kid," said the upperclassman in saddle shoes. "How much good do you think that junk does. Students can't do anything about college life. Look what happened to that bunch in Berkeley; they got thrown in jail."

"I'm sorry," said the repurposed freshman, and he turned back to his copy of the Daily Announcement.

"Anyway, what I was getting at," boomed the leader, "was that I think this Ka is a foolish waste of paper. Why, that space could be used for advertising the Varsity's movies and the University's dances. I'd even rather read a biography of one of the faculty members than that silly stuff in Ka."

"I agree," said the second lad, offering his Tiparillo to a nearby lady. "It's a shame to print something like that."

"Do you suppose we could do something about it if we wrote a letter to the editor?" piped up the freshman.

Freedom HUAC Style

The House Un-American Activities Committee has fought valiantly on the Eastern front, the Western front, and sooner or later will move into an intense investigation on the Midwestern front. This investigation will probably be motivated by something as inane as reports that unconventional and unorthodox PINK lemonade is being sold on the public owned, and public supported grounds of public schools.

Perhaps I'm being too critical of HUAC, for even though in almost thirty years of existence they have not found one person to be a Communist or initiated one piece of sound legislation, they have at least caused innumerable "might-be Communists" to suffer economic hardships through the loss of employment and the expenditure of large sums of money to clear their names. Also, on one occasion, HUAC provoked a relatively valuable scientist at The University of California to commit suicide rather than be subjected to the degradation of the "purge".

Of course we mustn't overlook the effect the Committee has had on the typical grass-root community, (like Herrin) where the entire effort of the

NOT ONLY IS THIS SCHOOL BEING RUN LIKE A FACTORY, IT'S BEGINNING TO SOUND LIKE ONE.

Art Comes to the Wasteland

by J. Joseph Leonard

So the Madison Avenue Bright Boys are exploiting the art world. Grant Wood's "Iowa Gothic" comes to life, pitchfork and all, and makes a plaintive pitch for you to please buy somebody's cornflakes.

Well, let's just open wide those museum doors and see that art works of all kinds are put to work and not just left hanging there.

How about "The Golden Helmet," in a nice big close-up, with the voice seemingly coming from within and saying, "Please buy our floor wax, and it's good for helmets too!" Or a medium shot—no, make it a Big Close-Up too—of "Nude Descending A Staircase" with the announcer whining, "Please buy our deodorant before you go anywhere!" And don't overlook "The Jolly Flatboat Men"! Camera pans the groups, then zooms in for chest shot of happy-panned, boozy-looking character as gal singer backed up by a jazz combo with lots of vibes and a suspicion of hoe - down belts out, "Please buy our beer and you'll be happy too!"

Let's take "Venus on the Half-Shell"—I mean "Birth of Venus." Hand holding open can of Metrecal moves into frame from upper right and pours half a can over the ponderous nude, and right before your very eyes, through the magic of photography, the Big Babe loses fifty pounds while a mixed chorus backed by a mighty Wuritzer organ sighs, "Please buy our product and you'll be slimmer too!"

Ah, and "Mona Lisa"! Shot of picture on gallery wall, slow dolly in for screen-filling BCU of just the face, then the enigmatic smile breaks wide open to reveal a mouthful of gorgeous, gleaming teeth as Lisa says, with a slight Italian accent, "Please buy our tooth paste and be on the winning team too!"

Here are a couple of quickies. "The Man with the Hoe" sponsored by Geritol with Ted Mack, in perfectly-tailored suit and impeccable make-up, saying, "Please buy our product and you won't be plum tuckered too!" "The Angelus," sponsored by Timex, with John Cameron Swayze intoning, "Please buy our timepiece and you won't have to depend on bells."

I almost suggested "The Last Supper," but I'm afraid there'd be a terrible hassle between the Alka Seltzer people and Mogen David people and the Tums people and General Mills—oh, just any number of sponsors who would just love to bring this masterpiece into millions of homes.

An Anti-Football Poem

by Ev-Reem

O great pig-skin oval,
O great gobbler of campus money,
O great rathole to pound taxpayers' sand in,
What is it with you?
Is it with bringing notoriety to the School?
What? With a 2-8 record?
This is notorious all right.
Speak to me, O ball of foot,
O source of scholarships on non-academic criteria.

Give me one good reason for Your being at this holy Institution.
O great Provoker of liniment and bandage,
Tell me why we couldn't use Your money in a modest way,
Like on a modest outer-space Program. Yes!
By excommunication of the grid-iron
We could save enough to put (An SIU student (Complete with Honda) on the moon.
Now, that's what I call notoriety.

MacVicar Is Named to NSF Group

Robert W. MacVicar, vice president for academic affairs, has been named a member of the National Science Foundation's Divisional Committee for Undergraduate Education in Science.

MacVicar holds a Ph.D. degree in biochemistry, and has a distinguished record as a scientist as well as an educator and administrator. In addition to the NSF, he also has served as consultant to the Atomic Energy Commission and the U.S. Office of Education.

In acknowledging MacVicar's acceptance of the committee post, Leland J. Hawthorn, NSF director, cited the SIU vice president's "considerable sacrifice" of time and effort in continuing his association with the foundation and its program in science education.

MacVicar, a native of Princeton, Minn., who was educated in the public schools of Saratoga, Wyo., came to SIU in 1964 from Oklahoma State University. He had been on the faculty there for 21 years, the last seven in a position similar to that he holds at Southern.

Others taking part in the program will be Fred C. McDavid, superintendent of Richwoods High School, Peoria Heights, and Robert J. Donnelly, Herbert Hoover, Raymond P. DeJarnett, and Robert J. Kibler of SIU.

Sessions will be held in the River Rooms of University Center.

Snow Provides Jobs for Some, Though It's Headache to Many

Snow may be a headache for many, but to some energetic students who don't have jobs, it provides an opportunity to make money.

After snow storms, requests for students to shovel sidewalks and driveways in Carbondale flood the Student Work Office.

The calls for help come only from Carbondale residents, Jerry A. Snider of the Student Work Office said. Evidently the University must not need any additional help digging out, he said.

Students who do this kind of work are listed in the "odd job" file, which means that they work just to pick up some extra money and do not hold a steady job, Snider explained.

The same type of jobs are available all year round. In the spring, students are needed to rake lawns, sow grass seeds and to move trees.

Students Battle Police, Soldiers, Attack U.S. Embassy in Moscow

MOSCOW (AP) — Hundreds of screaming Red Chinese and Vietnamese students stoned and spat the U.S. Embassy Thursday, beat back police, scuffled with soldiers and dispersed only when army reinforcements moved in.

Shouting, "Down with American imperialism," the demonstrators denounced U.S. air strikes in Viet Nam.

U.S. Ambassador Foy D. Kohler delivered a stiff protest, declaring police protection had been inadequate. It was the second attack on the embassy within a month. Gromyko apologized, promised to pay for the damage, and said greater measures would be taken for protection of the embassy in the future, an embassy statement said.

Then Gromyko handed Kohler a note saying U.S. "acts of planned aggression" in Viet Nam were "an indication that the United States is embarking upon the road of further extending the war in Southeast Asia." The note said "such actions" undermine U.S.-Soviet relations.

The Vietnamese and Chinese students fought savagely with mounted police and forced them to retreat twice under a barrage of rocks, sticks and slingshot slugs.

All windows on the lower floors in the center of the 10-story embassy building were broken before a reserve of about 500 unarmed soldiers in fur hats came at the double and restored order.

At least four policemen and one soldier were seriously injured and one Chinese and one Vietnamese student were taken away bloodied. Police arrested eight or more students, but later released them.

Abel Reportedly the Winner In Steelworkers' Final Tally

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The steelworkers headed back to the steel contract bargaining table Thursday amid a report that David J. McDonald is on the way out as union president.

Bargainers for the major steel producers and the United Steelworkers Union met for the first time since early January and agreed to resume negotiations Tuesday.

Word of the resumption came a few hours after the Associated Press learned that a complete tally shows McDonald trailing I. W. Abel by 6,228 votes in the union's election for president.

However, this was described as far from official since the union still must investigate between 100 and 140 instances in which locals reported more members voting than were eligible.

Medical Association Increasing Drive to Defeat Medicare Bill

CHICAGO (AP)—The American Medical Association is pumping nearly $1 million into a whirlwind educational campaign aimed at replacing the administration's Medicare proposals with its own Elder-care program.

Racing against time but feeling it has taken the initiative, the AMA and most of its 50 state medical organizations are attempting to present their case to the public before Congress acts on the administration-backed bill.

The goal of the campaign is to get a large segment of the public to write to their congressmen urging passage of the AMA-backed bill now pending in the House.

In just four weeks, AMA headquarters aid, it has filled orders for more than 14 million pamphlets. A spokesman said requests for material comparing the rival medical plans have come from individuals, groups, associations, businesses and industries, medical societies, women's clubs, schools and religious groups.

Inspection Team Plans Tour of South Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)— A U.S. delegation led by Gen. Harold K. Johnson is due here Friday for an on-site study of the war, in which combat casualties of government and American forces have just set a record monthly high.

Johnson is the U.S. Army chief of staff. Accompanying him are four generals, an admiral and two civilians—Carl Rowan, head of the U.S. Information Agency, and John T. McNaughton, assistant secretary of defense for international security affairs.

U.S. spokesmen here, in speaking of the visit, described it as a regular inspection trip. They said there was no special significance stemming from the new air strikes against Communist North Viet Nam and unflinching of U.S. jets against the Viet Cong.

U.S. military officials reported the Vietnamese armed forces suffered in February their heaviest casualties of any single month to date.

Mononucleosis Sweeps New Jersey College

LAKEWOOD, N.J. (AP)— Georgian Court College Wednesday ordered its entire student body of 500 girls to leave campus until March 15 as a result of an outbreak of infectious mononucleosis.

The Roman Catholic college's physician, Dr. Ronald Schiraldi, said that about three-fourths of the students had been infected to some extent. More than 60 cases were reported Wednesday.

The report said 870 men were killed, 1,820 wounded and 1,450 missing. The total of 4,140 exceeded by 90 the previous high, set last December.

Forty-three Americans were killed, mostly in Viet Cong attacks on American installations at Pleiku Feb. 7 and the U.S. enlisted men's barracks at Qui Nhon Feb. 10. These attacks prompted retaliatory air raids across the 17th Parallel. American combat deaths in the previous 38 months of active U.S. aid in the war had totaled 257.

Negroes Plan 50-Mile March

SELMA, Ala. (AP)— Negro leaders are mobilizing their forces for a 50-mile march to Alabama's historic state Capitol at Montgomery to dramatize anew their demands for racial equality.

The Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., leaving Selma for another speaking trip after walking four miles in the rain for the burial of a slain Negro laborer, said the long march will start Sunday afternoon.

The question immediately arose whether state troopers would allow the Negroes to walk in mass formation along the highway or would stop them at the outskirts of this west Alabama city.

No immediate reaction came either from Gov. George C. Wallace or from the troopers' commander, Col. Al Lingo.

Gas Pipeline Blast Kills Nine in Louisiana

NATCHITOCHES, La. (AP)— Seventeen lives were lost in a great gush of fire when an underground natural gas pipeline exploded Thursday near a row of homes.

The dead included nine children. Of the dead, eight were from one family and six were from another.

The heat, over a 10-acre area, was so intense it melted six cars and three trucks into shapeless mounds of metal.

At least nine persons were injured. Some were reported in serious condition at the hospital here.

The blast erupted 150 yards behind a row of frame houses, just across a highway from a country club. It tore a crater 15 feet deep, 75 feet long, 30 feet wide.

The roar was from a flare of fire that towered 400 feet high until Tennessee Gas Transmission Co. workers shut off the high force flow of gas, spewing from the 32-inch pipeline under 750 pounds of pressure.

Seven houses were in the blast area. They were leveled and burned.

State police estimated damage from the blast at over a million dollars.

HARRISON WILSON

Concordia Meets SIU

Thomas Faszholtz, who two years ago was the last rookie cut from the St. Louis professional basketball Hawks, isn't expecting any miracles when his Concordia College basketball team challenges tournament favorite SIU tonight at the Arena.

Faszholtz, now coach of small Concordia (enrollment 1,153), said with a chuckle, "I would imagine," when asked if he considers his team the underdog in tonight's contest.

"They always give us all the powers," he laughed. In Concordia's last tournament appearance it meant another tournament team, Evansville, in the first game.

That was in the 1962-63 season when the Cougars lost to the Aces by 10 but came back to win the consolation game to even their tournament record at 2-2.

"We've heard Southern is good on the boards, likes to run, and has a real fine defense," said Faszholtz who apparently entertains only slim hopes of an upset. "We haven't played anyone of Southern's caliber, but we'll be out to do our best."

The team's third tournament bid in four years came as a mild surprise to the little Lutheran College. "We knew we had an outside chance," said Faszholtz. "We had one of the best records of the teams under consideration."

Faszholtz describes his team as one that takes the fast break "if we get it," switches between a zone and man-for-man on defense, and has a balanced team offensively with no one big scorer.

Meanwhile, Faszholtz's opponent, SIU, apparently isn't taking anything for granted. "I've talked to people who've played them and they say they are very capable," SIU Coach Jack Hartman said.

"They're a veteran club with good outside shooters," Hartman said. Their schedule hasn't been as strong as ours but that doesn't take away from their potential."

Hartman indicated his team will be ready, though, after a good week's work. "Our boys were disappointed over the loss to Evansville but we know we've got to bounce back," the three-year Saluki head coach said.

Teams Arrive For Regional

Jackson State was the first of three visiting teams to arrive for the regional basketball tournament. The Tigers came in by bus early Wednesday evening in the midst of the area's second biggest snowstorm.

Coach Harrison Wilson reported his team was still feeling the effects of the long trip Thursday morning but enjoying the hospitality of Carbondale and the snow—something they seldom see in Mississippi.

He planned to run his team through a good workout Thursday afternoon in anticipation of its 7 p.m. game with Central Michigan tonight.

"We're looking for a tough game," the former Jackson State athlete said, adding that his team would be ready for tonight's game.

"We're still a little disappointed about our loss to Grambling in the last four seconds Monday night, Wilson said.

Questioned about his team's favorite role in tonight's opener, the veteran mentor replied, "I never underestimate the opponent." Although he had Central Michigan scouted Monday night, Wilson still hadn't seen the report by Thursday morning, because "we were on the road all day yesterday."

"They've got a pretty good ball club," Wilson said, judging from all the indications he has seen, although he said he'd know more after seeing the scouting report.

The other two visiting tournament entries were to arrive in Carbondale Thursday afternoon.

Central Michigan planned to leave Mount Pleasant late Wednesday and stop off at Bloomington, Ill., and work out Thursday before making the final hop here.

SIU Is Top-Seeded Tourney Team On Strength of Its Tough Schedule

Southern finds itself as the top-seeded team in the regional tourney and will open its defense of this billing in the Concordia contest here at 9 o'clock tonight.

The Salukis earned their top ranking by playing far-and-away the toughest schedule of the four teams. Southern has rolled up a 16-5 record this year and has won five of seven

Salukis' Chances Of Playing Aces

Appear Good

SIU's chances of meeting Evansville for a third time appear good, as the Salukis head into the opening rounds of the Great Lakes regionals here tonight.

The Salukis appear to be the top team in the local tournament, based on this year's statistics, and if they emerge victorious could go on to the small college finals in Evansville March 10-12.

If the two teams meet for the championship, it will be their third game this year. In the previous two, the Aces squeaked by to win.

But before the meeting can come about, both teams have to win in their regionals this weekend and then go on to win in different brackets of the finals.

The winner of the regional here plays in the lower brackets of the finals in Evansville while the winner of the Evansville regional plays in the upper brackets.

games against major college opponents.

Southern also has two other advantages going for them. The Salukis will be playing on their home court where they have lost only once in 13 contests. Southern is also more experienced in post-season tournament play, having been in the tourneys five of the last six years.

Balance has been the key to the teams success this year, with starters George McNeil, Walt Frazier and Joe Ramsey holding scoring averages of 17, 16.9 and 15.4 points respectively.

Dave Lee, the defensive wizard, and Boyd O'Neal, the top rebounder, round out the starting five.

Southern also has the most experienced reserve unit in the tournament with a bench that has seen plenty of action this season.

Concordia Brings 18-4 Record To Challenge SIU Five Tonight

Concordia brings the best record of any entry into the Arena at 9 o'clock tonight against the Salukis.

Even though boasting the tourney's best record of 18-4, the Cougars have been given the role of dark-horse since they have played a lighter schedule. Their record is amazing considering that the Cougars won only three of 25 games last year. The play of captain Chris Rau, a 6-3 forward, Dick Wegehaupt, a 5-10 guard, and Dave Schrader has been the big factor in the Cougars' improvement.

Rau has averaged 10.3 points a game through the regular season and is the second leading rebounder with a total of 208. Wegehaupt is the teams' second leading scorer with a 15.3 average, and is the court general for the Cougars.

Schrader, a 6-3 forward, is the team's leading scorer with a 21.3 average and is third in rebounds with 140. Rounding out the starting five for Concordia are Tom Ruppert and Don Chaplin. Ruppert is the big man for the Cougars at 6-6 and is averaging 12.8 points from his center post where he also leads in rebounds with 391. Chaplin is averaging 10.7 points from his guard position.

'Transfers' Snare Intramural Crown

The Transfers became intramural basketball champions Wednesday night as they handed the Basketweavers a 72-61 drubbing.

The Transfers were paced in scoring by Dale Roberson who was the high point man in the game with 35 points. Dan Maga backed up Roberson's scoring with 13 points.

The Basketweavers had their usual balance scoring attack with Jim Hart's 17 points and Bob Ingstad's 13 highs.

The game was close throughout the first half, and neither team could build up much of a lead. At the halftime score was tied at 31.

Roberson, the Transfers' high-jumping forward, then took charge and his uncanny shooting and rebounding were too much for the Basketweavers in the second half.

Ready for Regional

Jackson State Tigers Bring Tallest Team; They Waited Full Year to End Humiliation

Jackson State's Tigers bring the tallest team into the regional tournament here. Their roster is dotted with skyscrapers. No less than half of their 12-man tournament team towers 6-6 or above.

The team matches its height with great rebounding and an offense that likes to run. It also has one other thing that may be on its side in its bid for its first regional championship.

Coach Harrison Wilson's team still hasn't forgotten the humiliating 97-69 defeat which the eventual champion Evansville handed them in their first tournament appearance last year.

Four of the five starters that were at Evansville in the massacre are back this year and they've counted the days until they could atone for their performance.

"I can tell you one thing we're here to play," Wilson said Thursday. "The boys have really looked forward to this since last year. We're not underestimating any of the other teams. We know that any team that comes to this tournament has to be good. But I think we'll be ready."

Wilson named the same starting lineup that he's used all year for tonight's contest. That includes hot-shooting Jerry Yarbrough, 6-4, and rugged rebounder Lyvonne Leflore, 6-6 as the forwards; aggressive Ed Manning, 6-7, at center and captain James Benton, 5-10 and Austin Dumas, 6-3, or Charles Bingham, 5-10, at the guards.

That combination has netted the tall Tigers 20 victories in 26 games this season.

Their winning formula has been a combination of hot-shooting, strong rebounding and speed to burn. The Tigers play in a conference where they run or be run over. Four teams in their Southwest Conference are among the top 10 in total offense in the nation according to NAIA statistics.

Jackson State ranks 12th themselves in the NCAA with a 95.6 points per game average. Wilson's cagers like to grab the ball off the boards and run. More times than not they've had the opportunity as they've only been out-rebounded once this season.

Central Michigan, Minus Key Performer, To Meet Jackson State in Arena Tonight

Central Michigan makes its first appearance in NCAA tournament action tonight when it meets Jackson State at 7 o'clock in the regional opener.

The Chips racked up an 18-6 record this year and finished third in the Interstate Intercollegiate Athletic Conference with a 5-3 record.

Their 18 victories were the second highest total in the school's history coming on the heels of last year's 19 victories.

Coach Ted Kjolhede is expected to give the starting nod to Bob Bruder and Dave Outwin, both 5-10 at the guards; Bill Peters, 6-4, at center with Don Edwards, 6-1, the leading rebounder, along with John Berends, 6-2, at the forwards.

The Chips will be playing without their third leading scorer, Tom Pelkey, a 6-2 guard, who is out with a knee injury.

Although Peters at 6-4 is the tallest starter, the Michigan club has averaged over 60 rebounds a game. The Chips play a deliberate style of game, and their 68.4 defensive average is second best among tourney entries behind Southern's 65.8.

DiVito Scores Lone Victory As Saluki Wrestlers Lose 27-3

The SIU matmen ended their regular season on a sour note Thursday, as they took a 27-3 drubbing from the number-two wrestling team in the country, Iowa State University.

Don DiVito scored the only victory for the Salukis as he came on strong to defeat State's Veryl Long 6-2 in the 147-pound class.

The final team score is somewhat misleading, as a number of Saluki wrestlers lost by close decisions in the action packed meet.

Don Devine started the evening off by losing a hard-fought 4-3 decision to State's Ernie Gillum. Devine led most of the way against the unbeaten Gillum, but a last minute take-down by Gillum kept his record unblemished.

Larry Baron, who wrestled at 137 this meet, took an early lead over Ron Jones, but ended up on the short end of a 4-2 score.

Antone Kusmanoff, at 157 pounds, nearly pulled off one of the biggest upsets of the year before he was finally pinned by All-American Gordon Hassman.

Kusmanoff battled back from an 8-1 deficit and nearly had Hassman pinned, but the All-American recovered and made Kusmanoff his sixth pin of the season.

George McCreery, at 167, was involved in the wildest match of the evening as he lost an 8-7 decision to Vic Marcucci.

Bob Herkert, at 177, was pinned at 1:28 of the first period by Tom Peckham. Alf Haezem, a heavyweight, lost a 5-0 decision to Steve Shippas.
